THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES
LECTURE ROOM
2100 C STREET, NW, WASHINGTON, DC

Meeting goals

1. Discuss value incentives in the light of recent projections for health care spending.
2. Review and solicit feedback on two Collaborative projects: administrative simplification and accountable care models.
3. Consider next steps for the Collaborative, including potential new projects.

8:30 am Coffee and light breakfast available

9:00 am Welcome, introductions, and meeting overview

Welcome from the IOM
Michael McGinnis, Institute of Medicine

Opening remarks and meeting overview by Collaborative Chairs
Helen Darling, National Business Group on Health
Jack Rowe, Columbia University

9:30 am Changes in health care spending and their impact on value initiatives

Recent economic projections show that health care spending has slowed in recent years. Is this solely due to the recession and recent economic conditions, or are there more fundamental shifts that might keep health care spending growth lower for the foreseeable future? This session will explore those projections, their causes, and the role for value initiatives in sustaining lower spending growth.

10:45 am	Core expectations for accountable care

ACOs could have a transformative impact on the effectiveness and efficiency of health care delivery. This panel will review the emerging state of play in the development of ACOs nationally, identify and characterize the range of models represented, and assess the extent to which they contribute directly to lower health costs and better health outcomes for both individuals and their communities.
