Saint Louis University Center for Substance Use Disorders And Pain Management

We are establishing a Center for Substance Use Disorders and Pain Management that supports and advances excellence in education, research, clinical care, community engagement, public policy, and health equity.

The Center will support and advance the practice of integrated and collaborative care across five areas of substance use disorder prevention and treatment and pain management towards shared goals and outcomes.

Key elements of the Center include:

- Basic science research
- Clinical bench to bedside research
- Workforce development for interprofessional team-based care
- Program evaluation, outcomes assessment, and advocacy for policy and legislative change based on evidence-based practice and practice-informed guidelines
- University culture change and community engagement through our Addiction Medicine Fellowship in research, clinical service, and education
