

COMMITMENT STATEMENT

Prevention Insights is a public health translational science to service organization with a focus on preventing or reducing substance use and misuse, its related harms, gambling problems, and mental illness. Through its investigative analytical core unit called the Institute for Research on Addictive Behavior (IRAB), Prevention Insights brings research and practice together so that individuals and communities have access to and benefit from state of the art knowledge and technology.

Prevention Insights is committed to reversing the opioid crisis by engaging in discussions, sharing plans of action, and collaborating on interventions.

Training & Education →

Prevention Insights serves as a training provider for substance use prevention efforts, mental health topics, motivational interviewing, and more.

Technical Assistance →

Our technical assistance aims to help organizations in implementing prevention technology and improving their practices.

Evaluation →

We can assess the effectiveness and fidelity of trainings, programs, and other interventions and aid you in utilizing evaluation results to improve your efforts.

Data & Analysis →

Our experts can turn data into a resource that is accessible to you and your audience and can guide your decisions.

Program Initiation →

Needs assessment, strategic planning, grant writing, and administration—we help programs begin with a solid foundation.

Research →

Part of our mission is to advance basic and translational research on addictive behavior in order to improve public health.

For more information on our opioid-related work, please visit our Institute for Research on Addictive Behavior: <https://irab.indiana.edu/>